

This version of the model represents most of the attributes and relations associated to each of the entities contained in the datasets.

This model can be used to solve all the requirements proposed by the business stakeholder.

This is a more compact version of the previous model. In this case, it has the minimum number of attributes to solve all the 5 business questions.

